NO MORE TIME AFTER BUFFING!

Tip 1: Cover the wiper cowl & windshield with masking paper or towels.

Even though Malco and Presta's water-based compounds and polishes can be wiped down easily and don't dry to a harden cement-like paste, taking this step avoids having to wipe out vents, wipe off wiper blades and re-clean the windshield after you've finished buffing.

Tip 2: Keep your buffing pads clean & avoid using pads too long.

As the pad gets overly saturated with product, you'll create more and more sling. We recommend cleaning wool pads regularly with a buffing spur and use a brush to avoid excess chemicals on foam pads. Finally, don't forget to take the time to wash your pads after compounding and polishing.

Tip 3: Use compressed air to blow debris off of the car after you buff.

If you have the luxury of working in a shop or garage with compressed air, use your compressor to blow any remaining dust and fibres left behind from the buffing pad off the vehicle surface.

Tip 4: Wipe out doorjamb and body seams.

It is often that there's overlooked, leftover compound caked in the jambs and body seams of your vehicle which can be an issue. We recommend using a clean microfibre towel to wipe excess compound out of seams.

Tip 5: Finish with a coat of breathable wax or glaze

You've just spent considerable time removing scratches, flaws and bringing up the paint's gloss. A quick wax will not only make your freshly polished finish really pop, it will help protect the finish and make it last.
